

Mueller Farm House dates from about 1840. It is an "L" shaped dwelling with "A" roof and is three bays long and one bay deep except for the "L" which is an additional two bays long. The "L" slightly lower than the main part of the house and adjacent to the "L" and the house is a one story modern kitchen so that the present plan is a square. The walls are constructed of local fieldstone and there is a date panel on the south gable which has a brick <sup>arch</sup> ~~area~~ around the ~~top~~ thereof. The central door has a transom and leads out onto a modern concrete block porch which looks over the meadow.
